WE CREATE
Making KC America’s Most Entrepreneurial City: Year 5
You build this city...

...and we want to thank each and every one of you.

From the urban core to our satellite cities, our neighborhoods are filling up with quirky and quaint shops, with comfort food and craft cocktails, with urban gardens and maker collectives, because of you. Headlines, in Kansas City and beyond, boast of KC creations, inventions and innovations, because of you. Locals, transplants and tourists alike wear “KC” proudly, on their heads—and in their hearts—because of you. And KC is known as a great place to live, play, work, raise a family, be an entrepreneur and scale a business, because of you. Because when you choose KC, you create KC.

When you choose to spend your dollars with a local business, more money stays in our community and our economy. When you choose to invest in Kansas City startups, you help promising ideas get to market and find their footing faster. When you choose to be a resource for our entrepreneurs, when you join the KCSourceLink network as a coach, mentor, investor, advisor, trainer, connector or partner, you embody that KC can-do attitude and prove that we are all better when we are connected. And when you choose to create a business in Kansas City, to take that leap, to put your ideas out there, to share your passion with the city and the world, you’re doing more than pursuing a personal dream. You are creating solutions, opportunities and jobs. You are inspiring new dreams and new ideas. At the core, entrepreneurship and your choice to support it is about that freedom: to chase a dream, to solve a problem, to own your destiny, to build a better future, to inspire someone, to create something—even to create this Kansas City we call home—from the ground up.

So thank you. Keep doing what you’re doing...and do more.

We still have work to do to invite more entrepreneurs from marginalized communities into the hope of entrepreneurship, improve access to capital, build bridges between startups and corporations, recruit talent, move ideas to market and tell our story. And we’re going to need you to do it. Because, in the beginning, in the end and only together do We Create KC.

How are we accelerating KC innovations?

Partners in the KCSourceLink network step in to help give lift and momentum to homegrown innovations, helping makers and innovators define markets, develop prototypes, find mentors, secure capital and more.

These innovations are CEO-ready. Whiteboard2Boardroom has curated 250+ innovations from 23 research institutions, hospitals and corporations across Kansas and Missouri, helping move technologies out of research labs and into the marketplace. Illustrated here: a select number of innovations that are ready for licensing or commercialization.
Who is investing in KC entrepreneurs?

KC investors and funders have been raising their hands and stepping up. Almost half of the capital resources for early-stage entrepreneurs are new since 2013.

70% of companies that got funding in 2017 received assistance from the KCSourceLink network.

KC investors support startups

For the last three years running, the number of investors from the Kansas City area has outpaced investors from outside Kansas City.

Invest in the future

For 2017 the news is good: The number of equity investments and grants into KC-based companies is the highest it’s been in the past five years.

Investment in the future
Many corporations find innovation—new solutions, new products or new markets—through engagement with the entrepreneurial community.

Big KC companies engage with entrepreneurial firms in a number of ways:

- Event and program sponsorship put the spotlight on community engagement.
- Mentoring/intentional collisions support fresh talent and grow local companies.
- Intrapreneurship creates a culture of innovation and opportunity.
- Corporate accelerators create new products and new partnerships.
- Corporations invest in startups.

Corporations also engage with the entrepreneurial community by being first customers and test beds. Smaller companies can also become part of the supply chain for a large organization.

Who will be KC’s next big corporation?

These are the companies to watch. Companies on the KC Watch List received funding, grant or investment, in 2016 and 2017, or two investments or grants in 2017.

KC entrepreneurship: it takes a village...and a lot of time

The KCSourceLink network was here—before the economic surge and slump, before Google came to town, before “entrepreneur” became a thing people actually wanted to be, before KC’s entrepreneurial renaissance—to build an infrastructure on which entrepreneurship and our economy could thrive.

KC entrepreneurship is not an overnight success story. It took deep roots. It took deliberate planning. It took intentional collaboration and outreach. Be proud of what you’ve built. Be proud of the KC you created.

Celebrate it—and step up to move it forward. Because we still have a long way to go to connect all entrepreneurs into the KC ecosystem, recruit talent, move ideas to market, improve access to capital, build more bridges between startups and corporations and tell our story.
